MUSEUM ASSOCIATION
ACCEPTS UM GALLERY
FOR FULL MEMBERSHIP

MISSOULA--

Robert Kiley, dean of the School of Fine Arts at the University of Montana, has been notified that the UM Gallery of Visual Arts has been granted full membership in the Western Association of Art Museums.

The gallery, operated by the School of Fine Arts, provides facilities for traveling shows and for the exhibition of work by UM students and faculty. Dean Kiley said that exhibitions change frequently and in the course of a year cover a wide variety of styles, directions, and historical periods.

Currently on display are paintings by Phil Navasya, a graduate student in the Department of Art. The exhibition opened June 25 and will run for three weeks.

The gallery, which is in Turner Hall on campus, is open to the public from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. Monday through Friday.
